Alice's key customers are corporate clients who invite her to share learnings with their leaders and teams.

it isn't standard protocol to record speaking engagements within corporate environments. At this time Alice does not have a fully recorded sample of her on-stage speaking experience to share with others.

Evenso she is consistently active in a variety of other platforms that effectively showcase her subject matter expertise and engaging presentation style.

The below links provide a glimpse into her engaging public presence. These examples provide a great look at what you can expect from Alice during an in-person presentation.
